At registration for the IDM 2026, all participants have to provide the valid membership at the DFV (Deutscher Fallschirmsportverband German Skydiving Association) or the DAeC (Deutscher Aero-Club German Aero Club). The proof of membership has to be provided by submitting the regarding membership number (DFV or DAeC-Landesverband regional association). That regulation does not apply to non-German competitors or teams which participate outside of the scoring for the German Championship.

If membership is required, a membership form can be found in the download area of the DFV website: www.dfv.aero/Service/Downloads.

Meanwhile it is each competitor's responsibility to dress according to the discipline and the specific requirements of indoor skydiving. The competition equipment will be checked by the event organizer. The minimum equipment of each participant consists of a flying suit, shoes, helmet (without any camera mounts), hearing protection and goggles (if applicable); appropriate protection is welcome.

By signing up, all participants accept the terms and conditions of the IDM 2026. Non-Compliance of the rules can lead to exclusion from the competition. Each participant declares individually to follow the organizer's instructions in connection with the competition.

The participation for each competitor is limited to maximum two (2) disciplines with maximum two (2) sub-disciplines with the limitation to one (1) class only. Due to the identical target group, IVFS will be counted to the artistic disciplines. Participation in three (3) contemporaneous sub-disciplines is not permitted at this competition.
